SUMMARY OF INFORMATION:

There is a cool breeze, a smell of salt water, and a lot of blue here. There is a male person with brown hair and a beard. He is tired. He seems to be just sitting there or fishing. There is a red thing that could be a building. There is something that is moving around in a circle. It is really hard to see because it is so dark. There are other people here, at least three or four more. They are just sitting there and watching. I thought they could be praying. There is a large figure that is triangle shape. There is something dark, with a pointed shape. It is cool here, but there is a stinky smell. Something blue, curved and round, reminded me of a balloon. There is something soft, if you touch it, it bounces back. The site reminded me of a mountain atmosphere; water, snow, and a mountain in the background.
